

Become that special someone... BECOME A MENTOR

Become that special someone to a college student.

Do you remember:

- Your favorite teacher that made a difference?
- The leader who put you on track to be the professional you are today?

Your College Relations Committee is in its second year of pairing volunteer members with SHRM Student Chapter members from Bryant University, Johnson & Wales University and the University of Rhode Island.

If you are interested in:

- Developing the next generation of HR professionals
- Leading and developing others, as you were once led by that special someone
- Getting positive recognition for your company, as you give back to the community
- Increasing your volunteerism at RI SHRM
- Adding this fulfilling experience to your own resume and LinkedIn
- Earning professional recertification credits

Then, read on and sign up!

Pairing And Your Commitment:

Pairing is based on information you provide, on the profile form attached, and the student's profile. The amount of time devoted to the program depends on YOUR schedule and the student's needs.

Fall and/or Spring Semester Students Available:

You decide - participate for the fall, spring or both semesters. Previous successful RI SHRM Member mentoring included:

- Shadowing
- Career counseling
- Hosting the student at an RI SHRM chapter meeting
- Hosting at another activity that the professional and student mutually agreed to attend

You have the knowledge – Now it's your turn to share it! How exciting to be able to be so beneficial and influential to students and to help shape the next generation of HR professionals and future leaders.

But wait, there's more...

Participating as a professional mentor in the Student Mentoring Program, you'll earn SHRM recertification credits. Consider Volunteering Today!
